

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS & PROPOSALS - DUE 19 SEPT 2022

ARCTIC PANDEMICS: COVID-19 & OTHER PANDEMIC EXPERIENCES & LESSONS LEARNED

The Arctic Yearbook welcomes abstracts for papers and proposals for other diverse contributions that will form part of a Special Volume entitled Arctic Pandemics: COVID-19 and Other Pandemic Experiences and Lessons Learned that will:

- Consider the unique conditions and characteristics of pandemic management in the Arctic (past, present and future),
- Examine the impacts and lessons learned from the COVID-19 pandemic and public health actions and activities in the Arctic,
- Share experiences and best practices from across the Arctic, with a priority on Indigenous Knowledge, Traditional Knowledge and experiences and lessons learned at the community level and/or
- Provide insights and advice that may inform pandemic preparedness and management and contribute to resilience in the Arctic.

Papers (5000-7000 words) can address one or more of these themes and we also welcome proposals for short case studies, commentaries, stories, and other forms of artistic and cultural expression (750-1500 words) from experts and knowledge holders.

Abstracts and proposals (300-400 words) should be submitted via email to Arcticyearbook@gmail.com by 19 September 2022.

Find more information about the submission process & the report's themes HERE or contact Arcticyearbook@gmail.com.

Arctic Yearbook is an open access publication and content published through this Special Volume will be available to the public free of charge.
